Rushing Hires Senior Engineer as Company Expands Operations

SEATTLE, Washington (December 10, 2008) – To support Rushing’s growing business, the company announced today the hire of Hollis Heron as senior electrical engineer.

With more than 19 years of experience and a LEED AP, Hollis brings expertise in the design of complex infrastructures; she is experienced in the design of power distribution, lighting, raceway and computer support, emergency power, life safety, telecommunications cable plants, and solar photo-voltaic arrays. Hollis will begin her work at Rushing by managing the extensive mechanical and electrical infrastructure upgrades to the Pike Place Market.
